WORTH COMMISSION HEARING

The Worth Commission sat Wednesday, September 30, in the Students' Union Theatre to hear submissions from the University of Alberta Students' Union and the Alberta Association of Students, as well as to entertain comments from the student body.

The 'brief' presented by the Students' Union was not a brief at all, but a proposal for a brief. Students' Union President TIM CHRISTIAN defended the submission in advance. The students abandoned their first considerations for topics to be included in the brief, he said.

Rather than discuss accessibility to post-secondary education in the province, student representation on decision-making bodies, the sectors of the population that are served by the University, or research being done within the University, the students gave their attention to the problem of "marketing" their degrees.

"Our postulate is that the University is a training school. We believe that this is an accurate description—we do not believe that this is what a university should be. To ignore the reality of the University, and concentrate on how to transform it according to Utopian visions, would be a dereliction of duty on the part of the Students' Union," said Mr. Christian in his preliminary remarks.

The Students' Union President went on to say that the topics he first mentioned, and other "existential" questions facing the student probably had been presented to the Commission in other submissions. The Students' Union desired to avoid being repetitious.

The proposal for a submission which was then read stated cryptically that the concern of the students was employment prospects. The educational policy must be made in response to the requirements of the "corporations" who are "consumers" of manpower. The brief ended with a plea for access to the research resources of the Commission so that a project could be undertaken on the economic prospects for employment of university graduates. This project, if completed, would be the official submission of the Students' Union to the Worth Commission.

The Alberta Association of Students also presented a brief to the Commission. The major concern expressed was transferability of credit from junior colleges in the province to the Alberta Universities. The brief stated that students from junior colleges could transfer to universities outside the province with full two years credit, but that when transferring to universities within the province the students received credit for only a few courses.

The AAS also expressed concern about opportunities for further training in technical colleges, about maintaining advisory boards to ensure that the training was always marketable, and about the establishment of equal priorities for recreation and academic facilities. The brief ended with the remarks: "The knowledge of a society belongs to all its members."

The students suggested free access for all Albertans to all educational facilities. The universities and technical schools should be open all day and evening to give instruction to anyone interested.

When the discussion was opened to comments from the floor, there were lively remarks tossed about by students and Commission members alike. "That [the S.U. brief] was a bourgeois document"—ALLAN STEIN, Commission member. "The Commission is non-representative; there are no technical students, no high school students, no university students"—from the floor. "We cannot be expected to undertake positions on committees such as General Faculties Council, because after twelve years of school it has been beaten into our heads that we have no say in how our education is carried out. And anyway, we should be paid for our time just as the administrators are"—from the floor. "The Commission is irrelevant; the government will go ahead and do what it has intended to do in education for the next twenty years"—from the floor. "I hope you are around in June, 1972 to see what the recommendations are and what will be done about them"—WALTER WORTH, Chairman of the Worth Commission.

The Gallery not only exhibits pictures of local and national importance, but sponsors cultural events and encourages happenings which take place outside the Gallery walls. The participation of members of the University and the community is emphasized.

Watch the Gallery

The Students' Union Building is our Grand Central Station, a giant concrete traffic centre. But within it are points of stillness, places to think (the Meditation Room), to look at things (the Art Gallery), and at people (the theatre). In the past year, odd things have been happening, like plays in the lobbies, face-painting in the foyers, and rock concerts in the Gallery. SUB's dividing walls seem to be disappearing. Is the Art Gallery pervading the entire building, or is the building invading the Gallery?

"Art is moving beyond the galleries all over Canada," says MYRA DAVIES, Director of the SUB Art Gallery. "We support a total arts program; this is the movement everywhere in art today. We are trying to disregard the perimeters dividing the arts—drama, music, and dance."

The Gallery itself is a living theatre. In experiencing it, one becomes part of it. Between 300 and 800 visitors peer, chat, browse, and doze there every day, not just culture-snackers, but interested and informed participants.

Since its opening two years ago this fall, SUB Gallery has taken a strong stand on art and environment. The director set forth these objectives; to stimulate interest in the arts in young people, to illustrate developments in Alberta art independently and within the Canadian context, and to present a program incorporating all the arts. The aim is to avoid the "traditional elitism of art," and to escape from the idea of ownership of art. "Most of the things we have here," Myra Davies says, "you wouldn't want to own." For example, the foil corridor that Norman Yates built, the neon lighting effects created by Bruce Benz and Dave Bennet, and the concrete poetry of Bill Bisset qualify as experiential art. The Gallery has housed theatre trappings, furniture, poetry readings, body painting sessions, as well as classes.

This year the Gallery is reaching out further along its established lines. Major exhibitions are planned, from the National Gallery of Canada, the Isaacs Gallery of Toronto, and the Vancouver Art Gallery. About one-third of the exhibitions are arranged by direct contact with the artists. The Alberta Artists Program, for which the SUB Gallery received a grant from the provincial government, will include three one-man shows this year: Four Kinetic Objects: Nickolas Roukes, "Knowlton/Sylvester Prints": John Knowlton and Roger Sylvester (Edmonton), and Surrealist Paintings: Robert Carmichael (Edmonton). The Department of Art Staff Show and also the Bachelor of Fine Arts students' show will be presented again this year.

These exhibitions are only a part of the Gallery program. Artists from many departments of the University and from varied disciplines will be featured. Poetry readings by artists such as Roy Kiyooka, or by staff and students are planned, as well as intermedial events like "The Al Neil Trio," an experimental music and dance group from Vancouver, which performed Wednesday, September 30. In late November there will be a repetition of the spontaneous "Anti-conference" of last year. It has outgrown the Gallery, and will take place in the theatre, the lobby, and the Gallery, involving visual art, light, sound, rock groups, dance, guerilla theatre, and film. There are two other presentations planned in November; first, "An Evening on Religion in the Arts," and later, "Women in the Arts," which will feature the poetry, song, and visual works of Edmonton's female artists. There will be a series of noon-hour concerts by the University String Quartet, and a series of playlets and one-act plays is planned.

SUB Gallery this year is involved in more ambitious projects than before. In its two-year life on campus, it has held a difficult position. The Gallery staff has thrown support to the uproven, and has succeeded in involving the youth, while building a legitimate reputation among the more conservative. It has provided a showcase for Alberta artists, and for members of the Department of Art. It is a useful teaching tool for students and the community, and it is a point of interdepartmental co-operation in the University. Watch the Gallery this year, experience the Gallery.

AL NEIL, his wife MARGUERITE, and GREGG SIMPSON of the "Al Neil Trio" gave an indescribable performance in SUB Theatre with piano, drums, recordings, voices, movement, and a football helmet.

LIBRARY SEMINAR

The University of Alberta Library and the Edmonton office of IBM sponsored a Library Automation Seminar on October 5 and 6. Discussions and demonstrations were carried out concerning computerized library procedures, and a case study was presented on The University of Alberta Library.

EDMUND A. BOWLES, Program Administrator for Humanities, Libraries and Museums with IBM in Washington, D.C., introduced the session on library automation.

GENERAL FACULTIES COUNCIL

The following matters were considered by General Faculties Council at its meeting on September 28, 1970.

NEW MEMBERS

The Chairman welcomed to the Council R. J. E. D'ALQUEN (Germanic Languages), A. B. CODY (Philosophy), F. B. COOKSON (Anatomy), B. R. CORMAN (Educational Psychology), K. W. DOMIER (Agricultural Engineering), A. D. FISHER (Anthropology), E. MIKLOS (Educational Administration), C. C. NUNN (Economics), D. B. SCOTT (Computing Science), S. H. SIMMONDS (Civil Engineering), W. C. TAYLOR (Paediatrics), D. W. S. WESTLAKE (Microbiology), P. R. WINTERS (Business Administration and Commerce), S. B. WOODS (Physics), Z. MELKVI (Graduate Students Representative) and P. MC FETRIDGE (Education, replacing L. D. NELSON for the remaining year of his term).

CHARGES FOR COMPUTING SERVICES

Council considered the Report of the Computer Facilities and Policy Committee which advocated the introduction of charges for the computing services of the University Computing Centre. It was agreed that the adoption of this policy be recommended to the Board of Governors.

BA (SPECIAL) PROGRAM

The Faculty of Arts had recommended the establishment of a four-year BA program, to be called the BA (Special). This program was designed to enable the student to obtain a diversified training in more than one branch of study, with a longer training and the possibility of more work in breadth or in concentration, or in both, than in the general program.

General Faculties Council agreed to approve the program as submitted by the Faculty of Arts.

UNIVERSITY OMBUDSMAN

After consideration of the Report of The President's Committee on the Proposal for a University Ombudsman, the following motion was approved by the Council:

That General Faculties Council recommend to the Board of Governors of The University of Alberta that the Board establish a committee of the Board to consider enactment by the Board of the by-law, or a suitable modification of it, concerning a University ombudsman, and recommended by the Presidents' Committee on a University ombudsman in a report to the President dated February 25, 1970.

REPRESENTATION OF THE NON-ACADEMIC STAFF ASSOCIATION

The Universities Act having been amended to provide for representation of the Non-Academic Staff Association on General Faculties Council, the NASA had nominated MRS. PAT BRUNEL (Philosophy), BOB SCOTT (Mining and Metallurgy) and PHIL ARNOLD (NASA).

Council agreed that these persons be appointed to General Faculties Council.

within the University.

Several of the briefs and recommendations received by the committee suggested that the Campus Security Services be disbanded and replaced by a contracted guard service similar to that operating in some universities. Another suggestion made was that the role of the Campus Security Services should be confined to traffic and parking control and "night watchmen" services, with law enforcement and fire protection provided by the City of Edmonton Police and Fire Departments.

The ad hoc committee discussed this question with F. S. SLOANE, Chief Constable of the City of Edmonton Police Department, in August, 1969. Mr. Sloane expressed the opinion that the Campus Security Services could continue to operate within its present sphere of duties, which include the security of buildings and property, the control of traffic and parking, and matters incidental thereto. Mr. Sloane assured the committee that the services of his department were always available to handle any emergencies or police matters beyond the normal responsibilities of the Campus Security Services. The ad hoc committee took this assurance into account in arriving at its recommendations. The committee feels that the employment of a private security agency to replace the Campus Security Services is not a good idea as this would no longer permit the University administration to select the type of personnel specifically suited to duties on campus. At present, the selection procedure essentially involves two screenings, one by Campus Security Services officers and another by the City of Edmonton Police Department with respect to the election of the candidate to the role of a Peace Officer of the Province of Alberta.

It is of the utmost importance that the basic concept behind the Campus Security Services be one of service to members of the academic community, its support personnel, and its guests. Thus the organization will not only be expected to be competent in the enforcement of rules and regulations laid down by the University with respect to security, law and order, but it must also be staffed by those who fully comprehend the rather special nature of an academic community.

A good working relationship between Campus Security Services and the University community is essential. The students, academic and non-academic staff must have some representation during the formulation of the basic policies of this organization. Such a move would conform with the present trend at The University of Alberta towards government by participation. In this

Report on Campus Security Services

The "Report of the Ad Hoc Committee on Campus Security Services" has been received by the Executive Committee of the General Faculties Council.

The report will form the basis of discussion at a special meeting of the Council, on a date to be decided. Persons interested in commenting on the report may direct written submissions to JOHN NICOL, Secretary to the Council.

The report appears below.

INTRODUCTION

The General Faculties Council of The University of Alberta, at its meeting of April 28, 1969, established an ad hoc committee whose objective was "to make recommendations to the General Faculties Council concerning policy on the operations of the Campus Security Services." The following members of the academic staff were elected to membership of the ad hoc committee: V. GOURISHANKAR, Professor of Electrical Engineering, E. W. S. KANE, Associate Professor of Law, R. D. MORTON, Associate Professor of Geology, G. D. PRIDEAUX, Assistant Professor of Linguistics, and E. W. RATSOY, Associate Professor of Educational Administration. At the first meeting, held on May 14, 1969, Dr. Gourishankar was elected chairman and Dr. Morton named vice-chairman. The ad hoc committee has subsequently met regularly during the past sixteen months.

In the following pages the ad hoc committee has brought together certain recommendations for consideration and possible approval by the General Faculties Council. The adoption of these recommendations would, in the opinion of the ad hoc committee, result in more efficient and effective functioning of the Campus Security Services. However, it is the view of the members of the committee that it is neither possible nor realistic to hope that any committee could produce a policy manual which would cover all possible contingencies and situations which might arise in future. The report of an ad hoc committee such as this, can at best reflect only the current thinking of the University community on major and obvious problems confronting the Campus Security Services. Provision must be made for a continuing review of the policies adopted and for making new policy recommendations as and when the need arises.

NEED FOR A CAMPUS SECURITY SERVICE

In the past, when university campuses were small enclaves within the urban scene, it was quite adequate to ensure the security of the physical plant of the university by the employment of relatively untrained personnel such as night watchmen. However, during the past decade university campuses such as that of The University of Alberta have experienced a phenomenal expansion and many campuses have emerged as highly complex, self-supporting communities which almost constitute a special form of urban satellite. Equipment in laboratories, offices, and service departments has become increasingly expensive and the need for security has grown rapidly. Increased vehicular traffic and parking problems also demand rigorous and efficient control procedures. Furthermore, universities can no longer be considered as isolated or thinly populated islands of academic activity. The University of Alberta is now visited daily by thousands of students and staff as well as by hundreds of other people on both academic and non-academic business. The influx of such large numbers of people gives rise to a greater need for effective protection of persons and property. Such protection can only be provided by a well-trained security organization stationed connection, the ad hoc committee would like to draw the attention of the members of the General Faculties Council to the role of the Police Commission Board of the City of Edmonton.

■ RECOMMENDATION: The Campus Security Services should be retained essentially in its present form, subject to the control of and direction by representatives of the University community with regard to its policy.

SECURITY PERSONNEL IN PLAINCLOTHES

Within any security organization the performance of duties by its officers out of uniform can serve many purposes. Campus Security Services personnel have, for instance, been operating in plainclothes for purposes of investigation of complaints, thefts, etc., and of enforcement of fire and safety regulations. The present Campus Security Services administration feels that the operation of plainclothes personnel on campus has several advantages. Embarrassment for the individual being interviewed may be avoided if the Campus Security Services personnel are in plainclothes rather than in uniform. The administration is also of the view that in certain situations, it is desirable to have a plainclothes security officer present to discreetly observe how a particular situation is developing. The ad hoc committee generally concurs with this view. However, it must be ensured that indiscriminate and excessive employment of plainclothes security personnel is avoided by requiring that the use of such people, especially those who must keep their identity secret, is specifically authorized for each occasion by the Chief of the Security Services.

■ RECOMMENDATION: The Campus Security Services should be permitted to continue using plainclothes security personnel on campus. The use of such personnel must be specifically authorized for each occasion by the Chief of the Campus Security Services.

ARMING OF CAMPUS SECURITY SERVICES PERSONNEL

In view of the recent increase in incidents of violence on university campuses throughout North America, the question of arming the campus security personnel is frequently raised. The ad hoc committee has given careful consideration to the question of the carrying of firearms by Campus Security Services personnel. Two possibilities were discussed. One possibility is that personnel have recourse to no arms other than perhaps a night stick. The other possibility is that Campus Security Services personnel be allowed to carry sidearms, and that other more sophisticated firearms be stored in a central armory. The ad hoc committee took into account the fact that the City of Edmonton Police Department has the equipment and trained personnel to handle situations demanding the use of firearms. Under the arrangements which already exist and as indicated earlier in this report, the City of Edmonton Police Department can be summoned for assistance at very short notice. Consequently, the ad hoc committee makes the following recommendation.

■ RECOMMENDATION: Campus Security Services personnel must not carry firearms, nor must there be an armory on The University of Alberta campus.

SPECIAL TREATMENT FOR THE UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY

The question is often raised as to whether members of the University community should receive special treatment in cases involving violations of law on campus. The ad hoc committee feels that while the investigation of thefts and other offences committed on the University campus is a necessary part of the duties of Campus Security Services personnel and is a part of their obligations, the extension of this function to include the investigation of the political affinities of individuals or groups on campus must be avoided, unless violation of existing laws or disruption of normal University life is involved. The traditional concept of the university as a place where intellectual freedoms are protected and nurtured must be upheld. Members of the University community must have the right to express their opinions free from pressure and interference.

In cases involving violation of the law, no member of the University in the opinion of the ad hoc committee, should receive special treatment. The establishment of a special University disciplinary body to deal with criminal offences committed by members of its community on the campus would be an unnecessary departure from the time-proven course of normal justice. However, with respect to non-criminal transgressions of University regulations such as those governing parking and traffic on the campus, the ad hoc committee firmly believes that some latitude should be exercised by Campus Security Services personnel. It is evident that members of the University community and their guests who have unwittingly transgressed such campus regulations have often been severely embarrassed by rigid enforcement of regulations. Most people, it must be agreed, respond more favorably to a polite warning rather than to immediate punishment. The constant reliance upon coercive means of control leads to unnecessary hostility towards the Campus Security Services and perhaps towards the University as a whole.

■ RECOMMENDATION: Intellectual freedom on the campus must be upheld as long as no violation of the law is involved. Members of the University community should receive no special treatment in cases involving violation of the law with respect to criminal offences on campus. However, Campus Security Services personnel, in keeping with their service function, should use discretion and show some latitude in the enforcement of University regulations, notably those governing traffic and parking on campus.

RIGHT OF ENTRY INTO CLASSROOMS

Another question recently raised on this campus relates to the rights of Campus Security Services personnel to enter a classroom when a class is in session. As the members of the General Faculties Council will recall, an incident involving the alleged entry by Campus Security Services personnel into a classroom without the approval of the department chairman played a significant role in the events which led to the establishment of the present ad hoc committee in April, 1969.

The ad hoc committee realizes that Campus Security Services personnel, by virtue of their being sworn Peace Officers of the Province of Alberta, have the legal right to enter any classroom, laboratory or office in the University if the proper discharge of their duties requires such action. However, being part of a university, the personnel of the Campus Security Services should not exercise this legal right except in case of grave emergency.

Campus Security Services personnel should not normally enter classrooms, laboratories, or other premises under the direct control of a department or faculty unless prior approval has been obtained from the Chairman, Dean, or Director as the case may be, or their designated representatives. Exceptions to this rule are situations such as those involving possible loss of life, injury or serious damage to University property. In such cases, it may be neither practical nor safe to wait until permission from the authorities mentioned above has been obtained.

■ RECOMMENDATION: Campus Security Services personnel should not normally enter classrooms, laboratories or offices, or other premises directly under the control of a department or faculty without prior approval of the Chairman, Dean, or their designates.

APPEAL PROCEDURES FOR PARKING AND TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

At the present time, any person who is charged with a violation of the Traffic and Parking Regulations (see Traffic and Parking Regulations, The University of Alberta, March, 1970, edition) or assessed any penalty, may appeal to the Parking Appeals Committee. This committee is chaired by the Vice-President (Finance and Administration) and includes a representative from the Academic Staff Association, the Students' Union, the Graduate Students' Association, and the Non-Academic Staff Association.

The ad hoc committee believes that the "executive" and "judicial" functions as they pertain to the security services on campus should be independent of each other. For this reason, it recommends that the Parking Appeals Committee should elect its own chairman, and the composition of the committee should be 2 members of the academic staff, 1 non-academic staff member, 1 undergraduate, and 1 graduate student. In order to ensure continuity, the members will be elected to overlapping terms of office.

■ RECOMMENDATION: The composition of the Parking Appeals Committee should be as follows:

Academic staff	2
Non-academic staff	1
Undergraduate student	1
Graduate student	1

This committee should elect its own chairman. The election of members from the different groups should be staggered to ensure continuity.

MECHANICS OF POLICY FORMULATION

At the present time, no provision exists which might permit the various sectors of the University community to play a direct and active role in the formulation of policy relating to the Campus Security Services.

Also, as mentioned earlier, provision must be made for a continuing review of the adopted policies so that necessary changes can be made. In order to achieve these objectives, the ad hoc committee firmly believes that a standing committee of the General Faculties Council to be known as the Campus Security Services Policy Committee should be established. The main functions of this committee would be two-fold:

(i) to find answers to new policy questions as the need arises, and (ii) to monitor the implementation by the Administration (particularly by the Security Officer and his staff) of the policy decisions adopted by the Policy Committee (after ratification by the General Faculties Council) and to suggest or make appropriate changes in the light of the experience gained and/or criticisms received.

This committee would consist of representatives of academic staff, non-academic staff, and students. In order to facilitate co-ordination between the levels of policy formulation and policy execution, it is proposed that an administrator in the President's office be designated as the Chairman of this Policy Committee. The Security Officer would not be a member of this committee but would attend the meetings of the committee at the discretion of its members. On matters of policy, the Security Officer would be responsible to this committee and he would report to it through its chairman.

■ RECOMMENDATION: A standing committee of the General Faculties Council entitled The Campus Security Services Policy Committee should be established. The composition of the Campus Security Services Policy Committee should be as follows:

Chairman (an administrator in the office of the President)
Academic staff	4
Non-academic staff	2
Graduate students	1
Undergraduate students	2

The non-academic staff, graduate student, and undergraduate representatives are to be nominated by their respective organizations and approved by the General Faculties Council; the academic staff members are to be directly elected by the General Faculties Council. The terms of office of the academic and non-academic representatives should be two years, with overlapping terms to ensure continuity. Student representatives would be nominated annually.

The terms of reference for this committee should be:

(i) to find answers to questions of policy as the need arises and to adopt new policies with the approval of the General Faculties Council whenever required,
(ii) to monitor the implementation by the Administration (particularly by the Security Officer and his staff) of the policy decisions adopted by the Policy Committee (with the ratification by the General Faculties Council whenever required),
(iii) to suggest or to make appropriate changes in policy in the light of the experience gained and/or criticisms received,
(iv) to establish well-defined standards of fire safety and prevention applicable to specific departmental requirements,

(v) to establish standards for the recruitment and training of Campus Security Services personnel,
(vi) to enquire into any matter which might enhance the effectiveness of the Campus Security Services.

UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATION AND THE CAMPUS SECURITY SERVICES

At present, the Security Officer reports to the Associate Vice-President for Finance and Administration through the Director of Physical Plant. The Associate Vice-President in turn reports to the Vice-President for Finance and Administration. The present organizational structure is shown in Figure I. It should be noted that there is no distinct separation between the responsibility for the formulation of policy relating to the Campus Security Services and the responsibility for the execution of this policy.

Until a few years ago, The University of Alberta was of such size that the Director of Physical Plant was able to look after the Campus Security Services as well. However, with the rapid and extensive growth of The University of Alberta during the past few years, his responsibilities with respect to the maintenance of buildings, roads, and physical plant have increased enormously. The Security Services has also expanded, both in its size and its duties. Consequently, the ad hoc committee feels that the Director of Physical Plant should no longer be burdened with the responsibilities associated with maintaining security on the campus.

As stated earlier, the Associate Vice-President for Finance and Administration is in overall charge of Campus Security Services. The ad hoc committee does not know the extent of his other duties. However, it does know that the Vice-President for Finance and Administration to whom the Associate Vice-President reports, has a broad spectrum of responsibilities. After reviewing the organizational structure of a number of large universities, and in consideration of the sensitive role of Campus Security Services on The University of Alberta campus, the ad hoc committee feels that the Campus Security Services merits the sustained direction of an administrator in the office of the President. This administrator should be able to devote a major portion, if not all, of his time to Campus Security Services affairs, especially in the early stages of the reorganization proposed in this report. He should be directly responsible to the President because his duties and responsibilities as far as matters relating to the Campus Security Services are concerned, would often involve matters under the jurisdiction of all the three Vice-Presidents, the Provost, the Dean of Men, and others. From this vantage point, he should be able to have a good overview of University affairs. The ad hoc committee is not suggesting that this administrator should be involved in the day-to-day running of the Campus Security Services. This should continue to be the responsibility of the Security Officer. On major administrative matters, the Security Officer would seek the guidance and instructions of the administrator. On matters of policy, the administrator would express the decisions of the Policy Committee and General Faculties Council to the Administration and would ensure that the policy decisions are implemented by the Security Officer. The Security Officer would report to the Policy Committee, as and when required, through this administrator. The proposed organizational structure both for policy formulation and policy execution of Campus Security Services is shown in Figure 2.

■ RECOMMENDATION: An administrator in the office of the President and directly responsible to the President should be placed in overall charge of Campus Security Services. The duties of this administrator would be:

- (i) to serve as Chairman of the Campus Security Services Policy Committee,
- (ii) to ensure that the policies adopted by the General Faculties Council or the Policy Committee are implemented, and
- (iii) to provide guidance and instructions to the Security Officer on major administrative matters and with regard to the implementation of the policies adopted by General Faculties Council or the Policy Committee. The Security Officer would be responsible for the day-to-day operation of Campus Security Services.

SOME ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

Based on a study of the various briefs that were received by the ad hoc committee and as a result of the discussions which took place within the committee, the ad hoc committee would like to make the following observations. Some of these can be considered to be purely administrative matters while others would require consideration by and approval of the Campus Security Services Policy Committee and in some cases, by the General Faculties Council.

Jurisdictional limits of the Campus Security Services

While a satisfactory liaison between the Campus Security Services and the City Police and RCMP has existed for some time, it would appear that the arrangements to date have been essentially of an informal nature and that on occasion some confusion concerning jurisdictional limits has arisen. It may therefore be desirable to clearly define the jurisdictional limits of the Campus Security Services, after consultation with the other police agencies.

Fire and safety regulations

Incidents have been brought to the attention of the committee in which the Fire Safety and Prevention section of the Campus Security Services and certain departments have strongly disagreed over the safety standards applicable to specific laboratories and equipment. While it is conceded that the Campus Security Services should have overall responsibility for the enforcement of fire and safety regulations, it must be realized, however, that highly specialized equipment exists in many laboratories. Thus, in order to effect proper measures of fire safety and prevention, it must be ensured that the Campus Security Services personnel consult directly with the departments concerned before arriving at appropriate fire safety standards for the use of specialized equipment.

Manual of rules and regulations

It is felt that a manual having a dual function should be prepared. This manual should carefully outline the limits of authority of Campus Security Services personnel and secondly, should include regulations affecting members of the university community. Such a manual may turn out to be too bulky for mass distribution. If this is the case, then a shortened version should be prepared and distributed to those persons desiring such information. The comprehensive manual should be accessible for reference in a central location such as the library.

■ RECOMMENDATION: A manual outlining the limits of authority of Campus Security Services personnel and regulations affecting members of the university community should be drawn up.

Security occurrence reports

It is felt that every effort should be made to ensure the strictly confidential nature of security occurrence reports filed by Campus Security Services personnel. Instances have occurred in the past where such documents and related correspondence have been forwarded to Deans and Department Chairmen within the University prior to the lodging of formal appeals or the disposal of the complaints.

Lost and found

■ RECOMMENDATION: A centrally located and properly staffed "Lost and Found" office should be established on campus.

Traffic control on special occasions

Consideration should be given to hiring university students to assist in directing traffic before and after such events as football games, dances, etc.

■ RECOMMENDATION: Students should be hired to assist in directing traffic before and after football games, dances, etc.

Storing of towed automobiles

If automobiles are improperly parked or parked where they are not authorized to be parked, the present practice of Campus Security Services personnel is to have these automobiles towed off campus. The ad hoc Committee was made aware of several cases where perhaps unnecessary hardship and consequent ill-will were generated as a result of such action. The Committee realizes that removal of improperly parked vehicles is sometimes necessary and unavoidable. But it wonders whether removing them from campus altogether is necessary. Perhaps a small "car pound" could be set up on campus for such purposes.

■ RECOMMENDATION: A "car pound" for storing towed automobiles should be established on campus.

CONCLUSIONS

The ad hoc committee would like to thank the various individuals and groups who submitted briefs concerning Campus Security Services. The committee hopes that the recommendations made in this report will be approved and adopted by General Faculties Council. The committee realizes that some of the recommendations, if adopted by General Faculties Council, will have to be ratified by the Board of Governors of The University of Alberta.

PEOPLE

■ JIM HACKLER, Associate Professor of Sociology, organized and chaired three sessions at the annual meeting of the Society for the Study of Social Problems in Washington, D.C., August 29 and 30. One session was a panel on the topic, "Social Restraints on Criminological Research." The second included prepared papers on "The Criminologist at Work." The third was composed of round table discussions on various topics in criminology.

■ F. D. COOK, Professor of Soil Science, was a participant in the International Symposium of Hydrogeochemistry and Biogeochemistry held in Tokyo September 5 to 13. The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Science Council of Japan and UNESCO. Dr. Cook's paper, jointly prepared with H. R. KROUSE of the Physics Department, was entitled "Nitrogen isotope fractionation by microorganisms." From September 21 to 23 Dr. Cook participated in a Canada Department of Forestry conference at Victoria where he discussed microbiology in relation to tree growth.

■ D. J. PLUTH, Associate Professor of Soil Science, spent two weeks in mid-summer on an anthropological study of artifacts at the site of Sir John Franklin's 1820-21 winter camp at Fort Enterprise, NWT. Dr. Pluth was engaged in a characterization of the natural history at the site, especially of the soils, vegetation and geomorphology, to reveal why the expedition selected that site for its camp. The expedition was sponsored by the Boreal Institute.

■ T. W. PETERS, Alberta Institute of Pedology, University of Alberta, was one of ten senior scientists contributing to an inventory at Devon Island in the Canadian arctic under the International Biological Program. Mr. Peters spent two weeks in August studying the relationship of soils to plant communities and their classification under the new Canadian system of soil classification.

■ P. R. SMY, Professor of Electrical Engineering, has been elected Chairman of the Plasma Physics Division of the Canadian Association of Physicists for the period of 1970-71.

■ M. L. VAN VLIET, Dean of Physical Education, has recently returned from the World Student Games in Torino, Italy. As President of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union, he headed a delegation of 107 Canadian athletes, coaches and officials. The competition included 2,000 university athletes from 62 countries.

VISITORS
